

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

At first, I would like to say “thank you” to my advisor, Professor Hwang, Jen-Te. It has been my great honor to have him as my advisor. He is so generous and considerate. He introduces me a lot of papers and periodicals concerned with this study. Besides, he always encourages me to be active, particularly when I was behind the schedule. I appreciate so much his expert guidance.

Also, I would like to appreciate Dr. San, Gee and Dr. Chen, Cheng-Chou. They kindly give me abundant information and suggestions about this thesis. With their suggestions, this thesis has improved substantially.

Then, I want to appreciate my classmates in IMTS. Ms. Liu, Ya-Chuan often gave me such good comments when I was confused and felt discouraged. And, she is always so kind and so enthusiastic about taking care of everyone in the class. I appreciate her so much. Ms. Yi, Ya-Ru gives me a very big hand in this research. Without her help and encouragement, I guess I could not have finished this thesis this summer. Ms. Chien, Yu-Chun usually shares great ideas and wonderful feelings with me. Also, she introduces me to see and take note of international issues. This really led me to widening my horizon. I am much thankful. It was my pleasure to have you as my classmates in this master’s program.

Thank Mr. Pan, Chun-Nan for introducing me to this master’s program and giving me a lot of favor in the study. Also, thank for my colleagues’ kindly help and consideration. Especially, I want to say thank you to Ms. Chen, Yu-Mei, Ms. Wu, Chia-Lin, and Ms. Hsu, Huei-Chin. Many thanks to my parents, sisters, and brothers. They always stand by my side and give me the greatest support. With them, everything becomes possible.
